

WOMEN WITH THE WAVE: BROADCASTING FOR ALL

OCTOBER 2015

ISTANBUL, TURKEY

MASTERCLASS

CONFERENCE

NETWORKING EVENT

The Asia-Pacific Broadcasting Union, together with leading diversity sponsor organisations, presents a suite of forums in 2015 that showcase gender and diversity in the media—best practice and content highlights. Over the past 20 years the global media has embraced the objectives and implementation of a range of important declarations, actions plans and activities.

In 2015 there are a number of key milestones:

- 20th anniversary of the UN's Beijing Declaration and Platform for Action
- target year for the Millennium Development Goals
- survey year for the Global Media Monitoring Project

The Global Alliance on Media and Gender (GAMAG) established in recent years under the auspices of UNESCO, continues to build on gender and diversity media initiatives. This is the fourth annual Women with the Wave initiative that is part of the ABU Gender Mainstreaming and Diversity Project: Broadcasting for All.

In conjunction with the ABU's 2015 General Assembly and activities the forums will take place in October 2015 at Istanbul, Turkey.

Aims of the Gender and Diversity Forums

- Showcasing content and services that communicate and reflect all groups of society and tell the stories of all people
- Demonstrating policies and best practice within the media working environment, with an emphasis on gender and diversity and a broader and more inclusive workforce
- Providing discussion and networking opportunities that bring together people, ideas and contacts that promote gender and diversity

MASTERCLASS of Diversity Best Practice in the Media (to be confirmed)

Tuesday 27 October 2015, 10.00am to 4.00pm

This workshop provides the opportunity to engage with best practice to develop, implement, communicate and sustain gender and diversity plans in media organisations. There will be work group activities that focus on the practical application of gender and diversity plans, policies and tailored initiatives.
