Long Form Drama	Radio Television Hong Kong RTHK Hong Kong	Radio Play – 'Twenty Years'	'Gook Jue' (Cantonese for 'living in an oven', and the same pronunciation of a slang meaning 'optionless') is the theme of this episode, with the current housing problem as the theme. Lau, Tse-ling, a 28-year-old young lady, is desperate to move out, and decides to purchase a 128 square feet unit. She is met with objection from the seniors in her family, however. Meanwhile, Leung, Queenie, Lau's mother, is faced with the risk of closing her small beauty salon in a shopping centre located in a public housing estate. Their story reflects the housing crisis, with property prices sky-rocketing unceasingly; it also reveals the anxieties of a large population in Hong Kong where their housing needs can never be met.
